Dog Epic Ends

The epic adventures of Ulysses, black-mongrel poodle, who has been accused of biting four Carmel persons, two within a week, and who broke rabies quarantine to bite his last victim, have come to a satisfactory conclusion.

Last Thursday evening, Ulysses' quarantine ended at the pound, where he had been taken because he broke his quarantine at his home on Ocean Avenue between Santa Rita and Guadalupe.

The question was, would Mrs. Genevieve Bartholomew, his "caretaker" for the past eight months, take him home again where he would be free to continue his career of biting passersby, or would she leave him at the pound where the county health authorities planned to "put him away" as they euphemize the process.

Neither solution was palatable.

Happily neither solution came about.

Faced with at least one civil suit to recover damages for doctor bills and torn clothing of one of Ulysses' victims, Mrs. Bartholomew decided not to bring Ulysses back to Carmel. Her son phoned the pound to ask that a suitable home be found for Ulysses. And such a home has been found, according to one of the pound attendants.

"I don't know where. It may be in Montana for all I know, but it is far away from Carmel," he said.

Why was Ulysses allowed to bite four persons, and why would it have been possible for Mrs. Bartholomew to bring him back to bite more, if she chose?

Dr. Donald Caswell, public health veterinarian, points out that Carmel has no law which prohibits dogs from roaming the residence district at will. It is the only city in the county that has no such law. So, according to Dr. Caswell, after Ulysses' quarantine expired, the county was obliged to allow Mrs. Bartholomew to pick him up, if she wished.

The Ulysses problem is solved. But the dog bite problem in Carmel is not. According to Carmel police records, during 1960, 20 persons reported to the police that they had been bitten by dogs in

We Are Blackmailed By Fear Of Nuclear War, Says Capt. C. J. Morse Jr.

By RAYLYN [illegible]NNEY

"We of the United States are being blackmailed in our international relations through the exploitation of our own unreasonable fears. So many people have said so often that civilization would be at an end if we resort to nuclear warfare, or even if we explode one bomb of a nuclear type, that it has resulted in a psychology dangerous to our welfare."

This is the opinion and theme of many past lectures of a distinguished new resident of the Carmel area, Capt. J. H. Morse Jr., U. S. Navy Ret., atomic energy authority and former special assistant to the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

"We have gone about meeting this blackmail in just the wrong way," according to Capt. Morse. "Spokesmen for our nation, including former President Eisenhower, have said that war with nuclear weapons must not happen, that we must avoid it at all cost. This gives Khruschev the impression that we WILL avoid it at all costs, including that of surrender by installment. Thus we mislead him as the British misled Hitler up to Munich and World War II.

"While a major nuclear war would indeed be terrible, it need not be fatal, particularly if we have an effective fallout shelter program. Our refusal to face the risk of nuclear war with restraint, confidence and courage may bring on the very thing we most fear.

"Those who know the true situation also ask that we make every effort to avoid the worst, but this effort should be positive effort, not the negative approach of appeasement on every hand.

"Historically, it has been one of the most devastating things ever done to us as a nation, the mistake of insisting that there is

Planners Asked For More C-1-L Zoning Of Residence Area

The planning commission next Thursday afternoon will set a zone of interest for rezoning requested by Manuel Pereira and Lloyd C. Miller of residence property to multiply dwelling use. This comprises three and one-half lots extending from Lincoln to Monte Verde Street on Fifth Avenue, and fronting on the residence district.

Commissioners will act on plans presented by Kip Silvey and Robert Leidig to remodel the fronts of stores on the north side of

Planners To Consider Adding Nine Blocks To C-1-L Zone Thursday

The land use committee of the planning commission, George Willox and Mrs. Florence Josselyn, yesterday afternoon recommended that land in nine blocks on the perimeter of the business zone, also La Playa Hotel site, be added to C-1-L zone, now confined to less than 20 lots in the two blocks fronting on Ocean Avenue between Monte Verde and Casanova Streets.

Mrs. Josselyn and Mr. Willox' recommendations were the first step of a planning commission study to extend the C-1-L zone requested by the city council.

In the new zoning ordinance C-1-L zone is designated for hotels, motels, apartments and incidental

Carmel High And Catholic Schools Take Top Honors In Poetry Contest, Corey Chapman Wins First Prize

Eight student poets, five boys and three girls, from four Peninsula high schools shared the spotlight last night as award winners in the second annual poetry contest sponsored by the Arena Blanca Chapter of Chaparral Poets and the Carmel Pine Cone. Presentations of the cash prizes and honorable mention awards followed a reading of the winning poems by Olivia Young, chapter president and contest chairman, at the meeting of Arena Blanca members and guests in the Community Room of the Monterey Public Library.

First prize went to Corey Chapman, Carmel High School, for The Ruined City; second to Peggy Hawkins, Santa Catalina School, for The Dawning; third to Michaele Sherry, Carmel High School, for The Secret; and fourth to Kip Decker, Junipero Memorial High School, for The Wind and the Sound of the Sea.

First honorable mention went to Mike Walsh, Carmel, for The Race; second to Mary Allen Macneil, Santa Catalina, for Peace; third to Chris Wilkin, Carmel, for Sonnet; and fourth to John Hamamura, Monterey Union High School, for Poetry.

All eight winners were given a one-year junior membership in the California Federation of Chaparral Poets, and can look forward to

Low Bid Saves Tax Gouge For Ocean Ave. Job

Last night the city council accepted Granite Construction Company's low bid of $61,374.50 for paving and draining Ocean Avenue. The engineer's estimate was $76,672. This means that instead of $13,000 of local money going into the project, only $3,000 will be required. Already $7,662 was budgeted, so that no hike in the tax rate will be necessary to take care of Carmel's contribution.

Most of the cost is covered by accumulated state tax apportionment.

Work will begin between March 1 and 15 and the company has 60 working days to complete the job, which will be about June 1. Also in the agreement, no more than two blocks will be open (under construction) at a time. The work will begin at Del Mar Avenue and move up Ocean Avenue.

Other bidders were: McGuire and Hester, San Jose, $64,451.50, and C. Merrill Company, Fresno, $72,989.90.

School Board Has Money And New Law Troubles

Last night the Carmel school board received the unwelcome news that they will have to eliminate one four-classroom unit when they call for bids on the $1,520,000 junior high school they plan to build at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

The architects suggested that the board offer the eliminated unit as "an alternate bid" in case some contractor's bid would meet the budget and still include the $42,000 unit.

The architects' plan, presented and accepted last night, failed to meet the budget because the building costs will be $22,000 more than the budgeted $1,047,280. Utilities allowance of $25,000 had not included sewers, which raised the cost to $92,000. Site development will be $6,000 more than the $70,500 allowed, and site preparation $1,000 more than the budgeted $25,000.

The board decided to use the multi-use unit for four classrooms and eliminate one of the class room units.

In addition to the plan for the

County Planners Pleased With Rolling High Meadows

County planners and Carmel Citizens Committee representative, Admiral C. W. Fisher, were pleased yesterday over plans for the Carmel Land Company's new subdivision, High Meadows, north of Carmel High School.

The plan was referred to the county staff for report on roads and other technical matters, and the plan will be referred to the Carmel Planning Commission, since it is within the Carmel master plan area.

Commission member Keith Evans said the plans are "very attractive and very well done. Of 245 acres, 130 have been held as greenbelt; 30 acres more of open space. On the remainder 416 units are to be built, on an average lot size of a little under a half acre.

"If we want open space we have to compromise on the acre minimum site size," Evans commented.

The county planning commission also approved a general area north of Fort Ord as suitable for future garbage disposal site.

Officer Ed Fischer, Off Duty, But Wary

Carmel policeman Ed Fischer made an off duty arrest in the vicinity of the post office at 12:30 o'clock last night.

On his way home Fischer noticed a man cut through a back yard and jump into a car. The car raced away driven by a second man. Fischer gave chase and apprehended Richard Juarez, 21, and Stephen Enos, 19, both of Salinas. They admitted taking top and side covers off a sports car belonging to and parked in front of the home of Lieutenant Donald Dogel at Fifth and Lincoln.

Juarez and Enos were arraigned in Monterey Municipal Court this morning. They plead guilty. Judge Ray Baugh asked for a probation officer's report on the men. They will appear again in municipal court on March 3 for probation hearing.

PADRE CAGERS WHIP SAN LORENZO AND KING CITY

Given a boost when Pacific Grove clipped Live Oak to take the Acorns out of contention for the league title, the Carmel High varsity hoopsters put together a pair of solid games to trip San Lorenzo Valley High, 65 to 50, and finish in front of King City High, 44 to 35. While the varsity was improving its position at the expense of the Cougars and the Mustangs, Coach Dick Lawitzke's junior-varsity crew dispelled all doubt that it was the top jayvee unit in the league by drubbing the San Lorenzo reserves, 47 to 25, and coasting to a 47-34 win over the King City jayvees. Carmel's lightweight squad dropped a 57-52 decision to the Cougar limiteds but came back on Saturday night to outscore King City, 54 to 33.

In Friday night's win over San Lorenzo, Chris Wilkin led his varsity mates in the scoring department, hitting for seven field goals to lead both teams in the point-making statistics. The 6-4 senior was also a powerful factor on the boards as he pulled down 18 rebounds to give the Padres ball control at both ends of the court. Mike Draper (10), John Wilkin (9), and Jim Brown (8) supplied good support in the Carmel scoring and each played excellent floor games against the hustling Cougar defense.

Teddy Leidig, top lightweight scorer in the CCAL B-division ranks, continued his hot shooting streak by tanking 23 points against the classy Cougar Babes. Steve Fairfield chipped in with 12 markers as runner-up to Leidig but the fine scoring effort by the Carmel duo couldn't offset the steady scoring of San Lorenzo's Larson, Coddington, and Kelley. Larson hit for 17, Coddington had 14, and Kelley also picked up 14. The Padre lights were very much in contention in the first quarter as they matched the San Lorenzo lads point for point to get a 13-13 standoff at the end of the first period. The visitors applied the pressure in the second quarter, breaking out to a 31-24 halftime lead. San Lorenzo was on top, 49 to 38, at the end of the third quarter but the Carmel fourth-quarter surge closed the gap to the final tally of 57-52.

Rich Shively, a recent transfer from El Centro High, provided the scoring spark for the junior-varsity squad as it toyed with the outmanned Cougar reserves. Freshman Jay Miller, making his first start with the jayvees was a power on the boards and held up his end of the scoring by hitting for six points. Shively meshed three field goals and a free throw to top the scorers but all the jayvees had a hand in lighting up the board.

In Saturday night's sweep at King City, the varsity was the only squad to suffer any uneasy moments as it fell behind 22-15 at the half. The lightweights had a 20-8 bulge at the intermission and the junior-varsity was resting with a 28-10 margin at the halftime rest.

Mike Draper (11), Chris Wilkin (10), Bob Little (9), and Jim Brown (9) paced the Padre point-makers as they rallied for a thrilling second-half drive which overpowered the Mustangs. King City's Ron Dotson tanked 13 points for the game's high, but the lanky junior was the only Mustang to come close to the double figures.

Freshman Jack DeWitt enjoyed his best night as a lightweight performer by pumping in 11 points as Coach Harold Lippstreu's charges put together a solid team effort. Ted Leidig, Bill Jackson, Richard Wise, and Jose Fernandez were also steady scorers for the Little Padres while Steve Johnson, Bob Wells, and Al Nishimura topped all the rebounders.

Pete Morse and Rich Shrively hit for 13 and ten respectively to lead the powerful Carmel jayvees to another league win. With excellent rebound support from Jim Kelley, Tony Belleci, and Bob Wakefield, the Padre reserves were staked to an early lead and had game control from the opening whistle. The Carmel jayvees are undefeated in league play this season and appear capable of handling most of the varsity clubs in the B-division.

THROUGH THE HOOP

Carmel High's varsity basketball team, very much in the running for the CCAL B-division title, faces two severe challenges during the next few days as it tackles the surging Hollister Haybalers on Friday night and entertains the upset-minded Pacific Grove Breakers next Tuesday. Although Gilroy High appears to be the class of the league, Coach Bob Hagen's quintet doesn't figure in the title picture because of a probation period occasioned by a violation during the football season. The Mustangs are undefeated in league play this season and appear capable of going through the complete schedule without bowing to the opposition. Coach Marty Baskin's Breakers did the Padres a big favor last Friday night when they upset the Live Oak gang at the PG gym. Live Oak was deadlocked with the Padres for second place before losing to Pacific Grove and now must fight back against tough Gilroy and Gonzales in order to get back in the race . . . The 14th Annual Carmel Basketball Tournament will have a new look this year as St. Francis of Mountain View and Hughson from San Joaquin Valley replace Monterey and Fremont in the popular hoop festival. Fremont and Monterey were charter members of the Carmel go-round and both teams provided plenty of thrills for Carmel Tournament fans. Two league champions, Junipero Memorial, which has already sewed up the Catholic Athletic League title, and Gilroy, apparently the class of the CCAL B-division, will meet in the first night's play and this could be the best game of the tournament. The Cardinals made a shambles of the CAL race and could make Coach Hagen's fine aggregation scramble for the right to advance in the winner's bracket. Carmel High takes on the weak Gustine Indians in the opening night's activity . . . Coach Larry Cummins' Monterey Peninsula College hoopsters are still very much in the running for the Coast JC title and need only a win over arch-rival San Jose City College to get a share of the championship. The Lobos are one game behind the Jaguars at the present time and will meet the San Jose quintet again before the season ends. An unpredicted loss to Vallejo JC slowed down the Lobo drive to the title and makes every game a pressure tilt for the Monterey gang. Last Friday night, the Lobos clipped Cabrillo JC (Watsonville), 62 to 47, and were eased up during most of the second half. Next home action for the Lobos is slated for Saturday night when the Foothill Owls invade the Monterey High gym. Foothill has been easy prey for most of the Coast JC foes this season and Maroon and White squad should post another credit in the win column . . . Coach Ed Larsh's Monterey High varsity has been playing up to expectations in recent outings and is now rated a solid choice to cop the CCAL A-division championship. With Bob Jensen, one of Northern California's most prolific scorers, hitting twenty or better in every game, the Toreadores have been approaching every game with a confident attitude which presages victory. Monterey clipped North Salinas, 48 to 40, last Friday night and this win was just about tantamount to picking up the championship trophy. North Salinas had upset the Toreadores earlier in the season and was considered the big hurdle in the path to the title.

Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner (USN Ret.), Commander Amphibious Force South Pacific during World War II, died on Sunday during luncheon at the home of Colonel Warren S. Clear (USA Ret.) and Mrs. Clear in Rancho Aguajito. He was the brother of Miss L. Lucile Turner of Carmel. From 1912 until his retirement in 1947, he designated Carmel as his basic home address.

Funeral services were held this morning in the Naval Postgraduate School Chapel, Commander Hedges Capers (USN) was the officiating chaplain. Honorary pallbearers were Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz (USN Ret.) of Berkeley, Adm. R. A. Spruance (USN Ret.), Captain Archer M. R. Allen (USN Ret.), Captain L. W. Williams, superintendent of the Naval Postgraduate School; Haller Belt of San Francisco; Howard Judy of San Francisco, a cousin of Admiral Turner; Captain R. A. White (USN Ret.) of Los Altos; Rear Admiral C. Julian Wheeler (USN Ret.) of Menlo Park; Judge Gordon Campbell; and Carmel Martin.

Burial followed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

During the early part of World War II, Admiral Turner was director of the War Plans Division of the Navy Department. Then, as commander of the U.S. amphibious forces in the Pacific, he planned and carried out amphibious operations for the capture of Tulagi and Guadacanal. Later he planned and put into operation similar campaigns in the Gilbert Islands, the Marshall Islands and the Marianas, in association with Admiral Raymond A. Spruance.

With Admiral Spruance and Admiral Halsey, he supported the return of General Douglas McArthur to the Philippines and in 1945 planned and commanded amphibious forces in the taking of Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

After the war ended and prior to his retirement, Admiral Turner was U.S. Naval representative and advisor during the setting up of the United Nations organization in New York.

He retired in April 1947 and returned here to establish a home in Monterey.

Admiral Turner was born in Portland, Oregon, on May 27, 1885. His parents, Enoch and Laura Kelly Turner, moved to Stockton when he was a child and he received all his elementary and high school education in that city.

When he was not quite 15 years old he won an American history contest, sponsored by the San Francisco Examiner, and as his prize was taken on a tour of the United States and to both the Republican and Democratic national conventions in 1900.

While a Stockton high school student he was admitted to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis with the class of 1908. Later he received his high school diploma without having to complete his courses.

His friendship with Admiral Spruance, also a Peninsula resident, began in 1916 when they were shipmates on the newly-commissioned USS Pennsylvania. Later, from 1935-38, they attended the Naval War College together. Captain Archer M. R. Allen (USN Ret.) of Carmel was a member of the class of 1908 at Annapolis with Admiral Turner.

Admiral Turner attended the Naval Aviation School in 1927, then served as commander of the Naval Aircraft Squadron of the Asiatic Fleet for two years. Until 1932, he was chief of the planning division, Bureau of Aeronautics, U.S. Navy.

He was naval aviation advisor for the American delegation to the general disarmament conference in Geneva, Switzerland, during 1932. For the following two years he was executive officer of the USS Saratoga then, from 1934-35, was chief of staff in the Aircraft Battle Force.

His decorations included the Navy Cross for bravery and three Distinguished Service Medals for leadership. He was promoted to the rank of full admiral in 1945 by President Harry S. Truman.

In 1910 he was married to Miss Harriet Sterling. Her death occurred six weeks ago on January 3.

Survivors, in addition to his sister in Carmel, are a brother, R. Lee Turner of Phoenix, Arizona, and several nieces and nephews.

Mary Reed

Mrs. Mary Williams Reed, who wrote and painted under the name of Kate Carew, died on Saturday in a local rest home at the age of 91. She was active in the artistic life of Carmel during the World War I era when she made her home at the corner of Santa Lucia and San Carlos Streets.

Following the war she resided in England for 30 years. During this period Mrs. Reed interviewed and did sketches for The Tatler magazine of theatrical celebrities including Sir Beerbohm Tree, the Gish sisters, Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford. She was also associated with the Hearst newspapers during her earlier life in this country.

Gluyas Williams, noted cartoonist, who lives in West Newton, Massachusetts, is her brother.

Mrs. Reed returned to live here 17 years ago and until recently lived with her son, Colin K. Chambers, on Monterey Mesa.

She was born in Oakland on June 27, 1869, and attended the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco during her younger years.

An Act Of Congress Is Included In Story Of The Kinji House

Red torii doors and a crimson burlap-lined stairway off Dolores Street above Ocean Avenue lead to the Kinji Shop, opened in November by Colonel Earl L. House, USA Ret., and his adopted son, Kinji, a Japanese artist.

Colonel House met Kinji when he employed him as a house boy five years ago in Japan. At that time Colonel House was management specialist for the Far East Exchange Service which operates 1200 post exchanges and garages in Japan and Korea.

When he retired and returned to this country, Colonel House set in motion procedure to adopt Kinji as his son. This required passing a special law in Congress, arranged by Representative Charles M. Teague, as Kinji was over 21 years old. He will become a United States citizen at the expiration of two years after the adoption date.

Kinji has for sale in his shop his own paintings, also handpainted screens, wall scrolls, Kutani and Imari china, lacquer ware, sunlace table mats and handmade papers. He and Colonel House have just returned from San Francisco with new merchandise for the Kinji Shop.

We Are Blackmailed By Nuclear War Fear Says Captain Morse

no hope once nuclear weapons are used.

"The Soviets have been quick to realize this basic psychological mistake of ours, and have done everything they could to stress the danger of war and play on our fears.

"This is no surprise, since they have consistently been more scientific than we in the knowledge and application of psychology. They have already controlled a third of the earth's population by assault on the mind, a method they know better and do better than anyone else."

In a broadcast last fall for the Manion Forum, which originates in South Bend, Indiana, Capt. Morse said that the fear which he feels is demoralizing the United States is actually two-fold.

"First: we fear the possibility and the consequences of nuclear war if we take the kind of positive action and initiative which history and common sense call for today.

"Second: we fear what other people, including our enemies, would think or say if we took such positive action. The latter fear shows unhealthy lack of confidence in ourselves and in our country. Both fears are greatly inflated beyond justification by the facts. And this inflation has not come about by chance."

In an interview on the Peninsula, Capt. Morse listed one of the things which have kept our fears running high as the fact that many sincere and well-intentioned Americans, including some eminent scientists, support Soviet efforts to destroy our confidence and courage. They do this, he said, with great sincerity and integrity but with little experience or experience limited to technical matters and with little or no practical understanding of the use and effects of nuclear weapons.

"It is understandable that these people are gravely impressed with the possibilities of disaster," Capt. Morse said, "but it is unfortunate that they use their personal prestige to lend weight to their statements, thus blackmailing us time and again. I am not minimizing the real hazards of nuclear warfare, but the facts differ sharply from the information which has been spread so far in this country.

"These same individuals," he said, "who have been tools of the alarm campaign, criticize representatives of the military for lack of vision to make a realistic appraisal in such matters. However, I have found the reverse to be true."

Judgments based on fear are seldom realistic, Capt. Morse added. Courage and judgment relatively immune to fear should characterize military men who otherwise would probably seek some occupation safer than voluntary military service.

Looking ahead to imminent problems on the international horizon, Capt. Morse said he has fears of his own, but of a different kind, one being that Berlin could fall to the Soviets through use of no weapon but this campaign of blackmail through fright.

However, we have reason to hope that the current new administration is aware of this danger and will do much to reverse the trend, he said.

Capt. Morse, who now is a technical specialist attached to the Peninsula section of the Aerojet-General Corporation, which produces and does research for rocket engines for the Polaris, Titan and similar types of space craft, says the corporation's Peninsula group reflects the growing appreciation of many similar corporations and of the government itself of the value of planning far into a future, which has already been complicated by our race for superior technology.

The planning group here is complemented by research and production plants in southern and northern California and by plants on the eastern seaboard.

A resident of Carmel Valley since last August, Capt. Morse came here from Washington, D.C., where he was special assistant to the chairman of the AEC from 1956 to 1960, first under Lewis L. Strauss and then John A. McCone. In connection with this position he worked with the National Security Council and other groups in formulating policy.

Prior to this he spent two years on the staff of the Naval War College in Newport, and during World War II and the postwar period, he headed the nuclear planning section of Supreme Allied Headquarters in Europe. Among the problems faced by his section at the time was that of how much sharing of nuclear weapons and information should be done with the Allies. Some of the policies laid down by his group at that time are still in effect.

A 1932 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Capt. Morse was in aviation for 18 years of his naval career. Since his retirement, he has lectured widely in the United States and Europe.

Mrs. Morse and a son, Peter, accompanied him to Carmel Valley to make thir home. Peter is a junior at Carmel High School. A daughter, Joan, is a student at the University of California in Berkeley, and another son, John Morse III, is a midshipman at Annapolis.

Planners To Consider Adding 9 Blocks To C-1-L Zone Thursday

services (specialty shops, restaurants, and offices) for the benefit and convenience of the occupants of the above listed multiple dwellings only.

The C-1-L additions suggested yesterday were: The entire block bounded by Ocean, Sixth, Junipero and Torres; the eastern half of C-2 zone blocks fronting on Torres Street above Sixth to Third Avenue; the northerly one-third of two blocks fronting on Third between Junipero and San Carlos; all of the block contained by Third, San Carlos, Mission and Fourth; the south halves of two blocks fronting on Eighth Avenue between Junipero and San Carlos Streets; the half-block La Playa Hotel site, fronting on Eighth between Camino Real and Carmelo Street.

Mrs. Josselyn remarked that she and Mr. Willox had designated these areas for inclusion in C-1-L zone as they were either situated at main entrances to the business zone, or could provide more attractive development in certain areas than uses allowed in the new zoning ordinance. La Playa site was included, she said as this property needed proper zoning.

Commissioner Dorothy von Meier objected to the conversion of part of the present C-2 (heavy industry) zone to C-1-L zone, thus creating nonconforming uses of existing development in the area. Commissioner Hugh Smith also demurred about decreasing C-2 zone.

Commissioner Fred Keeble approved the C-1-L additions at the entrances to the business zone but stated that if the business district perimeter along Third Avenue were zoned C-1-L, this zoning should extend along all the perimeter of the business zone. He was doubtful about putting the land along Eighth Avenue in C-1-L zoning.

Chairman Herbert Blanks inferred that C-1-L zoning was buffer development. He did not like such development pushed inside the business zone, except to protect the entrances to the shopping area.

He asked commissioners to give a great deal of thought to the C-1-L land use committee proposals and crystalize their thinking before the matter is discussed at the regular planning commission meeting next Thursday afternoon.

MRS WINN INJURED

Members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department answered a call to the home of Brigadier General J. S. Winn in Rancho Rio Vista at 9:53 o'clock Tuesday evening. They took Mrs. Winn, who had injured an ankle, to the Peninsula Community Hospital in the Red Cross ambulance.

Dog Epic Ends . . .

Carmel city limits; in 17 of these incidences, the victim had to have medical treatment, and since the skin was broken, the dog was put in 14-day quarantine for rabies. In two incidences, the skin was not broken. One dog was responsible for two cases. This was not Ulysses, who took only two bites before the new year, one of which was not reported to the Carmel police, but directly to the county health authorities. How many other dog bite reports by-passed the Carmel police, we do not know.

It seems too bad to confine to their premises all the dogs of Carmel because in the past year 20 (21 to our knowledge) of them have bitten people. When the Carmel City Council passed such a law in compliance with the request of the county health authorities in their efforts to combat rabies, there was such an outcry that the council repealed the law within several months.

Perhaps some custom designed Carmel ordinance could be worked out to provide protection for the pedestrians and still not work a hardship on owners of dogs of known good manners.

Carmel has been lucky. So far, the dogs have confined their biting mostly to adults, and in the case of children, have not attacked the face or throat. —Wilma Cook.

WALTER HYNDMAN NOMINEE FOR MARINE ACADEMY

Congressman Charles Teague announced today that he has chosen Nelson J. Hyndman of Carmel, as one of his ten nominees for United States Merchant Marine Academy. One other Monterey Peninsula boy is among the selected, John M. Green, Seaside. Teague's ten must compete with other nominees on a statewide basis. Eighteen nominees from California will be selected by the Academy for entrance in July.

Big Cast, Big Crew Do Justice To Big Play At Circle, "Look Homeward"

One of the finest American plays of recent years, Ketti Frings' Pulitzer Prize-winning adaptation of Thomas Wolfe's Look Homeward, Angel, has a local premiere production in keeping with its stature at the Golden Bough Circle.

Frederick Rider's intelligent direction, a resourceful set by Ruth Allan, and a superior cast contribute equally to its quality.

In the play, the interplay between the strongly-defined personalities of the Gant family is even more intense than in Wolfe's novel. There is young Eugene, emotionally and physically bursting out at the seams; Ben, the sick, cynical elder brother whom he worships; their father, a bellicose giant whose pride and purpose have been sapped by an overmastering wife; and Mrs. Gant herself, whose passion for property and fierce possessiveness has crippled her family's love and freedom.

Mark Vance is excellent as young Gene, capturing in voice and manner the congested emotions of an emerging artist. As the father, Stanley Pearce is at once heroic and funny. Nick Zanides gives low-keyed but intense portrayal as embittered Ben.

Strongest role is that of Eliza Gant: domineering mother. It gives veteran comedienne Betty Fowlston a dramatic challenge, and she responds with a portrayal which, though at times overly flighty, has depth, sympathy, and vitality.

Laura James, who gives young Gene his first real love and deep hurt is charmingly played by Tricia Beattie.

Rick Beck-Meyer is Eliza Gant's stuffy brother, Will Pentland. Bunny Appleby and Peter Weldon are the Gant's quick-tempered daughter, Helen, and her put-upon spouse, Hugh. Dorothy Weston has a brief but pungent bit as a salty old madam, and Peggy Chandler is warmly sympathetic as Mrs. "Fatty" Pert, the easy-going boarder who is Ben Gant's only friend and confidante. Elroy Naczek plays a cross-grained country doctor, and Dick Vreeland appears briefly as the Gants' sailor son, Luke. As various of the Dixieland's boarders, we have Gary Winters, Mildred Cushing, Beth Zanides, Glad Parks, Charlotte Koch and "Pop" Smith, while Gerard Naczek is seen as a drinking crony of Gant.

Ruth Allan, who has created a remarkably effective setting has the expert assistance of Charles Thomas, R. Rolleston West, Clifford Berry and Harry Beshore. Anne Marie Flynn is stage manager, and Kay and Ginny LaVigne produced the costumes, assisted by Henrietta Pearce, Miriam Jones and Hazel McClellan. Paul Fiske and Doug Brooks assist Tom Frazer on lighting and sound, while Renee Wurzmann and Marcia Rider are in charge of properties.

It's a big cast and crew, and they have done justice to a big play.

Look Homeward, Angel, plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

This library has thirty-two books about the Lincolns, Abraham and Mary Todd. Some are exhaustive biographies, some are the little books which shed what their authors hope is a new light on certain aspects of Lincoln's life or character. One editor did a day by day record of his life, the items having been gleaned from hundreds of official records and histories. The editor's name is Earl Schenck Meirs and the books are entitled Lincoln Day by Day. The first small volume covers the years 1809 thru 1848, and the second 1849 thru 1860. Much of this makes very dull reading, but if you just happen to be interested in the small details of the lives of the Lincolns, these books are for you. Small details such as the fact that on December 24, 1845, Mrs. Lincoln went shopping and took home a remnant of linen which cost $1.31 and 6c worth of buttons. Things weren't too expensive in those days and one wonders just how large that linen remnant was!

Another interesting book about Lincoln is by Theodore Roscoe and is entitled The Web of Conspiracy. The author did research for two decades and then wrote this account of the men who took part in the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. The author thinks it possible that Booth might have escaped from the barn in which he was supposed to have died.

No mention of books about Lincoln would be complete without inclusion of the one called Lincoln's Emotional Life by Dr. Milton Shutes of Carmel. This small book sheds clear light upon the emotions which impelled Lincoln and caused his many illnesses. To Dr. Shutes also this library is indebted for information about the newspaper which we annually exhibit in our reading room which tells of the death of Lincoln. This paper has been in possession of the library for many years and the notation on it asserted that it was the newspaper published just after Lincoln's death. Dr. Shutes examined it and said that although it was probably printed within a year after the shooting, it was not an original but a souvenir reprint, many of which were printed to be sold all over the country. Even so, it is very old and very frail and thin, so we keep it between sheets of glass and show it once a year in February. If you have not seen it, it is worth a trip to the library, and is in the exhibit case in the reading room.

Most of the new books this week are fiction, at least ten of them are, and this includes the new one by Erle Stanley Gardner which is called The Case of the Spurious Spinster. There is also an interesting thing by Eleanor van Rensselaer on making mosaics from seeds and chipped glass, just the small things you find around the kitchen after your husband has helped with the dishes.

Putting in the new sidewalks near us here has meant creating a great deal of noise, but we keep the doors shut and keep out as much of it as we can. Don't let it keep you from the library. YOU know how to concentrate! Not us, it drives us crazy!

Sharon McClurg Married

The something old and borrowed that Sharon Lee McClurg wore at her marriage to Howard Lewis Roloff Jr. on Friday evening was a gold and pearl locket which her grandfather, B. H. Schulte of Carmel, gave to his bride on their wedding day 49 years ago.

Sharon and Howard exchanged wedding vow's in the Carmel Presbyterian Church before the candlelit altar decorated with urns of white stock and chrysanthemums. Dr. Joseph M. Ewing performed the ceremony at 8:00 o'clock. Fred Lewis, church organist played Because, and I Love You Truly while the guests gathered prior to the bride's entrance.

Sharon was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, Stanley D. McClurg. Her white silk brocade gown had a square neckline, three-quarter length sleeves caught together at the elbows with tiny bows and a ballerina length skirt which flared in gores below the fitted waistline trimmed in back with a bow and streamers. A lace and pearl bandeau held her shoulder length veil in place and she carried a white Bible covered with a spray of white carnations and stephanotis.

She was attended by Mrs. Michael Ricketts who wore a bouffant powder blue silk dress with short sleeves and a floating back panel which fell below blue satin roses at the waistline. Her net head veil and shoes matched her dress and her pink gloves were the same shade as her carnation nosegay bouquet.

William D. White of Carmel was best man for the groom. Ushers were Robert Douglas of Carmel and William King of Watsonville.

Mrs. McClurg attended her daughter's marriage in a wisteria embroidered silk sheath dress with chiffon trim and a white orchid corsage. Her flower hat matched her dress and shoes.

Mrs. G. Hale Roloff of Carmel, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in an imported tie silk ensemble and a matching hat trimmed with champagne flowers which harmonized with her orchid corsage.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents in Carmel. The bridal party greeted guests before the living room fireplace. Greenery and white stock were used to decorate the mantel. Candelabra shed a soft light on the cake table, decorated with white stock. Similar flowers were used on the punch table. The bride and groom cut their cake with the same knife used by Sharon's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Schulte, also her parents, at their weddings.

Before leaving for a honeymoon at an undisclosed destination, Sharon changed into a beige suit and hat, green shoes and purse and matching green orchid corsage.

On their return the young couple will live in San Francisco where the bridegroom is associated with a firm of stockbrokers. They both graduated from Carmel High School. Sharon is a graduate of Carmelo School in Carmel Valley, also.

The bridegroom's father is Howard L. Roloff of San Francisco.

Out of town guests included Sharon's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Schulte of Berkeley, and their daughters, Christina and Laura; another aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McClurg of Portland, Oregon; also Mr. and Mrs. George Tapfer and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ehrhart of Berkeley.

Jon Menand Jr. Born

Mrs. Louis Cox has just returned from a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Lieutenant and Mrs. Jon E. Menand, at Fort Belvoir, Alexandria, Virginia, also with her grandson, Jon Eldridge Menand Jr. who was born on January 20. He weighed nine pounds at birth and is the first child of Lieutenant and Mrs. Menand. The latter is the former Cynthia Cox. Both she and her husband are graduates of Carmel High School and Oregon State College.

Jon Jr.'s paternal grandparents are Mrs. Mina T. Menand of Carmel and Robert Menand of Pacific Grove. His father will complete Army service next January. He is stationed with the engineering corps in special services at Fort Belvoir.

Win MPC Scholarships

Among 30 recipients of $50 scholarships at Monterey Peninsula College are Nelson Hyndman and Bernadette Requiro, sophomores, and Frederick Bucher and Ann Kinion, freshmen, all from Carmel. Sophomores Warren Roberts, Sandra Gardner and Florence Nedeff of Carmel Valley won similar awards.

The scholarships are given in recognition of academic achievement by the Associated Students of Monterey Peninsula College. This group sets aside $1500 each year for these awards, according to Mrs. Marjorie B. Marshall, Acting Dean of Students.

Students who hold the highest grade point averages and take 15 units of work are selected on a strictly mathematical basis for the scholarships. Sophomores are considered on grades obtained during three semesters at MPC; freshmen one semester.

WHAT'S DOING
D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

If you should phone Paris, London, or elsewhere in Western Europe in the next two or three years, there's a good chance your call might go by way of a satellite. That's how fast things are happening in Bell System experiments with communication satellites.

A network of 50 satellites might someday bring you live TV from anywhere on earth as well as carry phone calls.

Our engineers hope to have the first of these satellites in experimental use before the end of the year.

The skills and knowledge called for in this pioneer activity also provide you with the finest telephone service in the world.

I'll bet there's not a housewife anywhere who sometime or other hasn't found she lacked an ingredient for a recipe she was preparing. Or, for that matter, I wonder how many husbands have the right size washer on hand when they try to fix a leaky faucet.

The men who install telephones avoid situations like these by carrying a full assortment of parts and tools right with them. Their trucks are really tool chests on wheels, stocked with some 400 different items. They're prepared not only for everyday jobs, but for most "unexpected developments" as well.

When you call for service, you might speak with Pat Cavanaugh, one of the Service Representatives in the Monterey Business Office. Each Representative spends 7 weeks in class learning about her new career, then finishes her training on the job.

Pat, who has been with us for 4 years, now resides in Carmel. Prior to coming here, she lived in Sacramento and attended Sacramento State College. Pat, as all of us at Pacific Telephone, is here to help you obtain the best telephone service possible to meet your needs.

An effective approach to world problems of disunity and inharmony may be found in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" which will be read at Christian Science churches Sunday.

This hopeful promise from II Corinthians will be among the Bible citations read (13:11): "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be cited (274:4-9): "When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.'"

HOW TO BEAT INFLATION
By George Washington

"EXCHANGE LAND FOR LAND, for it is a matter of moonshine to you how much money depreciates if you can get land of equal value to that which you sell." And he might have added—if you can get land which will give you more SPENDABLE INCOME than your present property.

GONE ARE THE DAYS when any piece of real estate is a good buy if it is priced right in proportion to its income. Today net income is not important unless it is a TRUE NET RETURN—after taxes.

MANY INVESTMENT HOLDINGS in real estate are not the best holdings available for the tax-paying investor-owner, yet many people feel they cannot afford to sell because of the taxable gains involved. If you are in this position, you cannot afford NOT to exchange to cut down your taxable income and increase your spendable income.

IT'S AS SIMPLE AS THAT, GEORGE. Opportunities available to solve this problem are legion in the Carmel-Monterey area, and we offer you our understanding of this market to assist you in improving your spendable income position.

DISCUSS YOUR problem with Mrs. Renk. No obligation, of course.

Shelburn Robison District Chairman Of Business Federation

Colonel Shelburn Robison, Carmel lawyer, has been named District Chairman of the National Federation of Independent Business. Announcement of his appointment was made today by Richard E. Thomas, Western Field Director of the Federation.

As chairman of the Carmel Chapter of the Federation, Col. Robison will tabulate ballots from Federation members on legislative issues and bills affecting independent business and professional men and forward his tabulations, together with signed ballots from Federation members, to Congressman Charles M. Teague and State Senator Fred S. Farr.

Col. Robison was born in Pinos Altos, New Mexico Territory, in 1894. He attended high school in Douglas, Arizona, near the Mexican town of Agua Prieta, where his youthful curiosity had him dodging bullets as a spectator during the border uprising of Mexican rebel leader "Red" Lopez. Although he was uninjured, five Americans in Douglas were killed by stray shells during the skirmish.

Col. Robison graduated as a mining engineer from Pennsylvania State University in 1917, just in time to receive an appointment as Second Lieutenant in the Artillery. After serving in France during World War I, he accepted an appointment in the Regular Army from which he was retired with the rank of Captain in 1930. Taking this opportunity to start a new career, Col. Robison attended the University of San Francisco law school, where he graduated in 1934. In 1936, he moved to Carmel to practice law.

Recalled to active duty during World War II, Col. Robison served as Professor of Military Science and Tactics and as Commandant of the Army Specialist Training Corps at Santa Clara University, retiring from World War II service with his present rank.

The National Federation of Independent Business, of which Col. Robison is District Chairman, is a non-profit organization of independent business and professional men having the largest direct membership of any business organization in the world.

junior high, there was a plan for expansion of the junior high into senior high.

The estimated cost of this expansion: $1,866,600 if built within the next two years. This will be included in a new bond issue, since it was not provided for in the last.

The board approved raising high school cafeteria meals from 35 to 40 cents; approved discontinuance adult education Russian class of 13, eight of whom are out of district students; ratified appointment of Jeanette McCann to replace Virginia Hammat as physical education teacher at Sunset, and Miss Hammat's transfer to River School as sixth grade teacher. Approved sabbatical leave for Mrs. Sarah Sproull, Arthur Hull and Sally McPhail; agreed to rent old Carmelo school to the county for training uneducationable mental retarded, about 35 in number.

After hearing an analysis of the financial effect on the Carmel district of the proposed county equalization bill, the board passed a resolution of opposition. Carmel district would have to raise its tax rate 34 cents to continue to operate as it does now, under the proposed bill.
